A BUXOM LAWYERESS .- Yesterday, Judge Knight travelled a long distance in the path of progress by issuing a license as a practising lawyer of the St. Louis bar to Miss L. Barkalo, a student of the St. Louis Law School. This, we are pretty reliably informed, is the first instance of this kind that has occurred in this country, which is undoubtedly the most progressive of all civilized nations in its treatment of the woman question. Miss Barkalo is a native of Brooklyn, New York, and is a woman of more than ordinary ability. Two years ago, after having read Blackstone and other elementary law books, she made application for ad-York, where she was promptly and peremptor ity refused. Nothing daunted, however, she came out West, and settled in St. Louis, where the came out West, and settled in St. Louis, where useful for life. Artificial treth inserted only useful for life. Artificial treth inserted only properties. Louis Law School. For eighteen months she has been assiduously devoting her energies to the study of the science, and her fellow students all agree in declaring her by far the brightest member of the class. That there is no question of her ability was clearly shown yesterday at the examination, where she promptly and correctly answered every question propounded to her. Miss Barkalo is about twenty two years of age, of a buxom figure, amiable and really intelligent face, and a large and expressive eye. (This is a figure of speech—she has two.) She is now a member of the St. Louis bar, and considerable interest is manifested to witness her maiden effort .- St. Louis

THE COMING WOMAN. - The passage of the fifteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States has had at least one beneficial effect so far as our political status is concerned in this country, to wit, the clearing of the track for the sixteenth and as many of amendments as may be deemed necessary and becoming toward the attainment of aliberaland benignly comprehensive system of representation and participation both in the making and the administration of laws. The woman is inevitable, and she is "coming" on the chariot wheels of woman's sweet wilfulness and her irresistibly captivating appeal for a chance to experiment among the rulers.

Now, there is a fitting opportunity for the women throughout the land to show their might, independent of any of our petty organizations, by voting for a candidate for the Presidential succession of 1872, and by inducing the men to vote, "just for once," in favor of a woman for President. Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull, the lady broker of Broad street, independent of all suffrage tea parties and Grundy associations, proclaims herself as a candidate for the occupancy in chief of the White House, and asks it en the score solely that she has the means, courage energy and ability necessary to confest the issue to its close. - N. Y. Herald.

a notice of the subterraneau pond supposed to exist at Worcester, Mass., the Lawrence American makes the annexed statement: -In Stockton. Cal., and immediately around it, an abundant supply of good water can be had anywhere by boreing down a dozen feet with a common augur with a long handle. Pienie parties carry a pump and stand, lead pipe and an auger as a part of the required articles for the day. But a very short time is expended in obtaining water. The fire reservoirs have no bottoms and require no filling, the water coming in freely as soon as they are dug. It was necessary to change the place of burial first selected in the town, the water penetrating the graves and partially filling them. Yet there is no healthier place than that locality in that or any other State .-An artesian well was sunk 1,200 feet in 1855, and ever since has thrown up a solid column of water ten feet above the surface of the ground. Some thirty or forty miles from Stockton there is a large tract called "float land" which moves on the surface, probably a lake, several hundred feet at times. Hundreds of cattle graze upon it with perfect safety. It is supposed to have been formed much as the Worcester land. The are several pieces of such ground in different countries of Europe.

JEFFERSON DAVIS' SEAT.—A correspondent in Mississippi asks; "Is it true, as some of the Northern papers continue to assert, that Revels occupies Mr. Davis' old seat in the Senate?' No; it is true. There was an effort made to secure it for him, but it failed. It was intend ed that the history of the times should record, as "the grandest providence of the nineteenth century," that Hiram Revels occupied in the U. S. Senate the seat in which once sat the arch-traitor Jefferson Davis. And in order to bring it about Sumner, Wilson and half a dezen others approched Senator Ross, of Kansas, and said to him, "Arise, exchange seats with the man and brother, Revels, that history may tell, to the perpetual confusion of Southern Chivalry, that he occupies the seat of the traiter deffers n Davis. Mr. Ross looked up from the sheet of paper upon which he was writing. "So this," said he, "is the seat in which Davis used to sit?" "Yes," replied Sumner, "it is." "And you and the man you've got here want me to get our of it and let the negro get into it, do you?" "We do," goods as low as any other first class house.

[Leeesburg Washington] answered Sumner. "Then," said Ross, taking up his pen "I've only to say that I'll see you and him first." - Louisville Journal.

A SINGULAR FINANCIAL transaction occurred in one of the deck offices, in Buffalo, a day or two since. By some means or other it happened that the office boy owed one of the clerks three cents, the cork owed the cashier two cents, and the cashier areal the cashier and the cashier areal the cashier area. two cents, and the eashier owed the office boy two can's. One day last week the office boy having a cort in his pocket, confuded to dimin ish his debt, and therefore handed the nickel over to the clerk, who, in turn, paid halt of his saie by mh 25 debt by giving the coin to the cashier. The latter handed the cent back to the office bay, The Suits; Blackentons, in all colors, for boys remarking, "Now I owe you one cent." The office boy again passed the cent to the clerk, who passed it back to the office boy, and the latter individual squared all accounts by paving it to the clock, thereby discharging his entire debt. Thus it may be seen how great is the blood, &c., for sale by expended judiciously.

He who places himself under the care of Dr J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skil! as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS Immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This distressing affection, which renders lite miserable and marriage impossible, is the miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety.— Young persons are too ant to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy othering, the most serious and ure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Ment Functions Weakened. Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death.
